PEACE NOW IN SIGHT.

The Peace Commissioners Have Reached an Agreement.

AS VIEWED BY MINISTER KURINO.

Japan's Representative at Washington Believes That the Final Declaration of Peace Will be Reached Within the Next Week.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Official advice received at the Japanese legation from Japan indicate that an understanding has been reached between the Japanese and Chinese plenipotentiaries, and that the news of the definite conclusion of peace may be expected at any time.

The exact terms of peace cannot as yet be ascertained, but it is understood that, in response to the urgent and repeated requests of the Chinese plenipotentiary for an abatement of the demands originally made by them, the Japanese plenipotentiaries have granted some concessions. Brief as the official message is, it marks the close of the China-Japan war, barring the possibility, of course, of some unexpected hitch at the last moment.

Minister Kurino, of Japan, said concerning the official cable from Tokio:

"The cablegram is quite brief and does not recite the terms, nor does it say that peace as yet has actually been reached between the two countries. I have no doubt that we will have a treaty of peace within a few days. It undoubtedly will be concluded within the next seven days, as the armistice expires at the end of that time. Should it not be arranged by that time there probably would be no difficulty in continuing a truce now that a peace understanding has been definitely reached."

"There may be some delay in arranging the details of the new Japan-China treaty, as it will cover all of the commercial interests of the two countries. One of the most essential items will be that of the tariff. Heretofore the Japanese duty has been 5 per cent. on Chinese goods, and under the favored nation clause all other countries were entitled to the same rate. But with Japan's new treaties with the United States, Great Britain and other countries, all of which contain the favored nation clause, it will no longer be possible to give China the 5 per cent. rate."

Mr. Kurino said that in the absence of definite word from his government as to the terms of the peace understanding he did not wish to speculate on terms. He regarded it as settled, however, that the Island of Formosa would be permanently ceded to Japan. He also considered the independence of Korea as settled. This would leave the question of indemnity, of Port Arthur's occupation and of future treaty arrangements as the subjects on which the Japanese plenipotentiaries may have granted some concessions. These concessions may apply to one or the other of the three terms, or to all of them. The minister is hardly prepared to believe that there will be no occupation of Port Arthur. It is possible that a term of years may be conceded instead of a permanent occupation, or else that the extent of the surrounding territory may be more restricted than was first contemplated.

Mr. Kurino takes a conservative view of the conclusion of peace. He shares the feeling of his countrymen that Japan had won the right to expect much as the price of peace. The minister communicated the information from Japan to the state department during the day. It was after the cabinet meeting, however, and Secretary Gresham did not communicate the news to his cabinet colleagues. Later in the day President Cleveland was informed.

Russia Objects to Japanese Extension.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 13.—It is stated on excellent authority that Russia has determined to make diplomatic opposition to the annexation by Japan of any portion of the Asiatic continent. The Russian army and navy in the far east are being reinforced with the view of supporting this decision. The Russian government has also resolved not to interfere in Armenia, in order to have a free hand in the far east.

Extradited on a Murder Charge.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 13.—Officers from Emporium, Pa., yesterday arrested Robert E. Wright, Jr., at the home of his father in Fair Haven, this county, on the charge of murdering Christian Drum in the fall of 1888. The alleged object of the crime was robbery. Shortly after the murder Albert Miller, of Harrisburg, Pa., was arrested for its commission, but on trial was acquitted. Young Wright comes from respectable parentage and is now only 22 years of age, and at the time of the crime was committed was less than 18. He has been under suspicion for several months. He was taken to Pennsylvania today.

To Sell Out the Whisky Trust.

CHICAGO, April 13.—The properties of the whisky trust will be sold to the highest bidder. Judge Shovaloff, of the United States circuit court, in an order issued yesterday admitted that the trust no longer had a legal existence. Its board of directors was charged with having deserted its trusteeship, that it had no quorum, and any election of new members of the board would not enable them to reacquire the property from the receiver. The court directed Receiver McNulty to sell the property, "and that the proceeds be distributed among those entitled thereto."

A Dying Man Immersed.

OAKLAND, Md., April 13.—Jacob Messer, a young man lying at the point of death, was persuaded by the Dunkards to submit to being immersed. He was carried to a stream on a cold day and ducked three times in the icy water. Three days later he died, and the state's attorney proposes to institute proceedings against the perpetrators of the outrage.

Kansas' Chief Justice Resigns.

TOPEKA, April 13.—Albert H. Horton, chief justice of the supreme court of Kansas, handed his resignation to Governor Morrill. The governor appointed Judge David Martin, of Atchison, to be the new chief justice. Judge Horton has been chief justice since 1877, and resigns to become a member of a Kansas law firm.

FEARFUL SCENES OF CARNAGE.

Thousands of Dead Bodies on the Streets of a Peruvian City.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Among the passengers who arrived on the Colombian line steamer Allianza from Colon yesterday were Mrs. James A. McKenzie, wife of the United States minister to Peru, and her daughter, Miss Kate McKenzie. They were accompanied by Henry Wilson, a Liverpool merchant who has been in Peru for the past eight years.

Mr. Wilson told a graphic story of the fighting in Peru during March and described in vivid terms the fight between the Montoneras and the government troops which resulted in the death of 5,000 people by shot and fire.

On the afternoon of March 17 the insurgents went to Callao and took up a position in the middle of the city, near the public plaza. In the fight during the day which followed in the city 2,000 men were killed, equally divided between the two armies. In addition to this about 3,000 people were killed by the fire which all but wiped the city out of existence.

These bodies were allowed to remain in the streets for three days, and that the stench became so fearful and sickness spread so rapidly that a truce was declared between the two parties until they could be buried. At the time the party of which Mr. Wilson is a member left Peru 1,500 out of the thousands of men and women killed had been buried. They left there on March 26. The temporary truce will remain in force until after the bodies of the dead are disposed of and the city is rid of the diseases which the stench induced.

The Excitement in Oil.

FINDLAY, O., April 13.—The oil producers of this, the most active part of the Ohio petroleum field, are in an excited state of mind over the rapid rise in prices. They predict that the standard will soon be paying $1 for the stuff they condemned as worth only ten cents a barrel a few years ago. The announcement was made at the office of the Buckeye Pipe-line that the prices for the day would be $1.07 and $1.05 for the two grades of Lima oil. From all that can be learned the producers in the Lima field have an abundance of oil in their tanks, but are declining to sell, evidently on the belief that the top notch has not been reached in prices. New wells will be sunk in all directions in northwestern Ohio, unless the present prices prove to have been caused artificially.

A Minister on Trial for Burglary.

PORTLAND, Ore., April 13.—A jury has been secured in the state circuit court to try Rev. J. C. Reed, the Baptist minister who in February last bound and gagged the paying teller of the First Portland National bank and then attempted to loot the bank. Ex-Senator J. N. Dolph is attorney for the defense, and insanity will be the plea. When the minister was caught in the bank he said: "I tried to rob the bank because I wanted money to support my wife and children. I have reached the end of my rope and the only feeling I have in this matter is for my wife and children."

Chinaman Sentenced for Perjury.

CHICAGO, April 13.—Sing Wah, the Chinaman tried in Judge Baker's court on a charge of perjury, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. Sing and Ah Lee were indicted on charges of perjury in connection with an effort made by F. G. Cowie to convict Ah Hong and Hong Sing of burning their store on State street in order to secure the insurance. It was charged during the trial that Sing Wah and Ah Lee were perjuring themselves. Ah Hong and Hong Sing were discharged. Ah Lee will have his trial next week.

Another New York Tenement Fire.

NEW YORK, April 13.—A three alarm fire was discovered last night in a five story flat house on Ninety-second street and Columbus avenue, owned by Leopold Schmidt, and occupied by ten families. The fire was discovered in a dumb waiter, and all the tenants of the building were at once alarmed. About ten people escaped through the hallways of the house. The others were carried down the fire escapes. There have been five outbreaks in the vicinity within forty hours, three of them in flat houses.

Plot to Assassinate Schouvaloff.

LONDON, April 13.—A dispatch from Warsaw, by way of Berlin, says that the police have discovered a plot to assassinate Governor General Von Schouvaloff, who was lately Russian ambassador to Germany. Many arrests of persons charged with complicity in the plot, including two ladies, have been made. A general who was arrested on the charge of selling military documents to Austria has wounded himself in an attempt to commit suicide.

Murderer Price Stricken with Pneumonia.

BALTIMORE, April 13.—Lawyer Russum, who will defend Marshall E. Price, accused of the murder of the school girl Sallie Dean, of Caroline county, was in Baltimore yesterday consulting with Price. Russum says Price is sick, and that he would not be surprised to hear of his death before the time set for the trial, April 30. He is afflicted with pneumonia.

Two Rioters Killed in Self Defense.

ST. LOUIS, April 13.—In a riot between native and foreign railroad laborers at St. Louis Springs several shots were exchanged and one of the parties badly wounded. A federal deputy marshal attempted to quell the disturbance. He was set upon by four of the rioters, and was compelled to kill two of them in self defense.

Reported Defeat of General Maceo.

MADRID, April 13.—An official dispatch received here from Havana says that the rebel leader, General Maceo, has again been defeated in an encounter with the Spanish troops and that he is now surrounded by the latter. Marti is believed to have fled to the United States.

Drowned in a Water Barrel.

STEVENSVILLE, O., April 13.—Charles, the 3-year-old child of George E. Risher, of Mingo Junction, while playing in the yard, fell into a barrel in which spring water runs, and was drowned.

LAVISH EXTRAVAGANCES

Unearthed by New Jersey's Investigating Committee.

MONSTER BILLS FOR PRINTING.

Twenty Thousand Dollars a Year Paid for Translating and Printing of Certain Reports, Not a Single Copy of Which Have Been Distributed.

TRENTON, April 13.—The senate investigating committee resumed its sitting yesterday, Counsel Corbin opening the session by exhibiting the minute book of the state board of arbitration in which no entries had been made since March, 1893. The minutes exhibited showed in one case the authorization of the president of the board to put in a long distance telephone in his private residence at the expense of the state. Lewis Robertson, one of the members of the old board, and ex-Senator Martin of Hunterdon county, were put on the stand. Mr. Robertson admitted that he had secured his position through Martin, but he denied that he had ever given Martin any compensation. Martin also denied that he had received any money from either. Both Robertson and Martin were examined closely as to interchanging and cashing of checks, but no proofs of Robertson having paid Martin any money was adduced.

Mr. Corbin next took up the case of county clerks who have not returned to the state treasury certain judges' fees which belong to the state. He went over a list of the counties showing a list of delinquents. They included County Clerk Barber and ex-Clerk Hollingshead, of Camden; ex-Clerks W. A. Smith, J. Edward Vandever, Samuel Smith and James T. Wrightson, of Essex; Joseph Arrow-smith, James H. Patterson and Charles S. Patterson, of Monmouth; A. B. C. Haven, of Ocean, and Dennis McLaughlin, of Hudson, had paid within the year over $5,000, and only owed for the present term of court.

A number of county clerks were put on the stand. James T. Wrightson, who owes fees for six terms of court, said that there was litigation with respect to the fees due to county clerks of Essex, and he did not feel that he should pay the money out of his own pocket while much larger sums due him were tied up so that he could not get them. Clerk Barber, of Camden, squandered yesterday, and said he had to pay out of his own pocket $250 which he has not yet collected from the lawyers. He suggests a law forbidding county clerks to file papers until the lawyers had paid their state fees.

Ex-Clerk Hollingshead testified that the $645 owed by him represented the amount of fees he had been unable to collect, and he did not think he should be made pay it.

Samuel Armstrong, chief clerk to Quartermaster General Donnelly, was questioned as to military transportation furnished to state officials and employees not connected with the militia. Mr. Armstrong said that this transportation was issued by orders of Governor Abbott, commander-in-chief of the militia. Mr. Corbin then read a detailed list of the persons thus furnished with transportation at the state's expense.

Mr. Corbin, after Mr. Armstrong left the stand, brought up the matter of state printing. The state treasurer's report for last year shows an expenditure of $48,000 under the head of printing, and $89,000 under the head of advertising. This by no means included the total amount paid, as items which properly belonged under these heads were distributed through twenty-six different accounts. The total expenditure for the past four years, as shown by computing all the items, ranged from $177,000 in 1891 to $191,000 in 1894. Even this sum, Mr. Corbin said, was not the full amount paid out, as some of the state boards receive their appropriations in lump sums from the state treasurer, and incur their own printing debts.

Mr. Corbin also showed by figures from the state comptroller's office that for the past four years it cost the state $20,000 a year to have certain reports translated and printed in the German and Italian languages, and proved by witnesses that in the case of several of these reports not a single copy had been distributed.

Otto Heinz, of the Heinz Lithographing and Printing company, of Newark, which drew large sums of money from the state treasury, was put on the stand. Mr. Heinz said that all work done by his firm had been obtained by bidding in open competition or by authority of legislative resolutions designating the firm to do certain work. The books of the firm were submitted to the committee, and will be examined by Mr. Corbin before the next meeting.

Mr. Corbin questioned Mr. Heinz closely as to what disposition had been made by him of the cash proceeds of certain state checks he had cashed in Trenton, and no corresponding record cash deposit appeared in the firm's bank books. Mr. Heinz said he had paid bills with some of it, and presumed the rest had been deposited. The firm's cash book not being at hand, the statement could not be verified. The cash book will be presented at the next meeting of the committee, when the investigation into printing extravagance will be continued.

Damages for His Daughter's Life.

BROOKLYN, April 13.—The jury in the suit of Charles W. McKeever to recover damages for the loss of his daughter's life, from the Atlantic Avenue Railroad company, brought in a verdict for $4,000 before Judge Clement in the city court. On Jan. 18, 1894, the child Ellen, was knocked down and killed by a trolley car belonging to the company, on Park avenue. This is the second trial of the suit, the jury having disagreed on the first.

Eight Persons Probably Drowned.

BELFAST, April 13.—Eight servants in the employ of the Marquis of Londonderry, at his residence, Mount Stewart, Newtownard, county Down, went into a boating excursion Thursday on Lough Strangford. They have not since been heard from, and it is believed that all have been drowned.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

Improvement Shown in Speculation and in Demand for Goods.

NEW YORK, April 13.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Progress toward better business continues, but it is slow and meets many obstacles. In speculative aspects, and in wholesale demand for goods, the week shows improvement. Money markets are undisturbed, and a little more active.

But among the chief obstacles is the anxiety of operatives to secure better wages, even while many manufacturing works are running without profit, and others at the risk of loss. In a number of establishments better wages have been conceded, thus increasing the purchasing power of the people, but strikes have largely overbalanced settlements, several of importance having thrown about 12,000 workers out of employment this week.

Retail trade has improved on the whole since March, as the approach of Easter brings more business, but distribution to individual consumers still lags behind purchases of jobbers and such demand for other investments looking into the future. Crop prospects will greatly affect the course of trade for some months, and the government report has little influence to discourage. For consumers the worst feature is the rapid advance in meats. For the first time in a long period prices of commodities average a shade higher than a year ago.

Failures for the past week were 207 in the United States, against 215 for the same week last year, and 27 in Canada, against 34 last year.

Alleged Deficit in Hazleton's Finances.

HAZLETON, Pa., April 13.—City Controller Jacobs, who recently took charge of the city's accounts, counsils yesterday by informing them that the books of Joseph Salzman, his predecessor, showed a deficit of $20,000. While he thought that it was a clerical error, he would not assume charge until the matter was adjusted. City Solicitor McNair was summoned and he advised them to send for Mr. Salmon. It was then found that the latter had gone to Buffalo but a few hours previously. The employment of an accountant was considered, but nothing will be done until some word is received from the ex-controller. His bondsmen are in no way apprehensive, and believe the matter will be found to be a clerical error.

Shot by an Angry Father.

MINERVA, O., April 13.—John Yengling, president of the Minerva Banking company, quarreled with his wife and attempted to shoot her. She escaped from the house, when Yengling began to beat his little daughter. Thomas E. Booth was attracted by the screams, and attempted to rescue the child. With a curse Yengling pulled a large revolver, firing twice, one bullet entering Booth's head. Booth's condition is critical. Yengling is in jail, strongly guarded.

Brigandage in New Jersey.

BRIDGEPORT, N. J., April 13.—Theodore Stratton, an engineer on the West Jersey railroad, was driving with his wife to their home in this city last night when they were held up on a lonely road by two masked men, with revolvers. Mrs. Stratton screamed, but was silenced by the highwayman's threats to murder her. They then relieved Stratton of his watch and $40, and fled. The police of this place were notified and a searching party was organized to look for the robbers.

President Penna Opposes Strikes.

COLUMBUS, O., April 13.—A manifesto has been issued by President Penna, of the United Mine workers, advising the settlement of the mining scale for the coming year by districts. The present scale expires May 1, and the Pittsburgh operators have refused to meet the Ohio, Indiana and Illinois operators in joint conference. President Penna recommends conservative action. He does not favor strikes.

The Verdict of Lynchers.

CORSCANA, Tex., April 13.—Nelson Calhoun, colored, was taken from the authorities yesterday, carried to the scene where Mrs. Hughes was ravished some days ago, and shot. Mrs. Hughes identified the negro. The verdict rendered as the lynching closed was: "Carried where his hellish crime was committed, and there received wounds that caused his death, a punishment certain, speedy and deserved."

Murderer Gentry Held for Trial.

PHILADELPHIA, April 13.—The long delayed inquest in the case of Margaret Drysdale, known on the stage as Madge York, was held yesterday afternoon, when James B. Gentry, her murderer, was seen in public for the first time since the commission of the crime. When the testimony concluded Gentry was committed to prison to await indictment by the grand jury.

John Kelso, who led the riot at the Pratt mines, near Birmingham, Ala., last fall, when a deputy sheriff and four negro miners were killed, was sentenced to one year's imprisonment.

THE ESCAPED CONVICTS.

Perry and Three of the Gang Still at Large.

CONVICT QUIGLEY RECAPTURED.

He Declares the Escape Was Not Effected by Collusion with Guards, but There Is Evidence to Show Careless Neglect of Duty.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., April 13.—The capture at New Hamburg of Convict Quigley yesterday, and his return to the Matteawan State Criminal asylum, from which he escaped with Train Robber Perry and three other dangerous convicts on Wednesday night, has solved the mystery of how the five men got out of their rooms in the isolated ward without breaking the locks. When Quigley arrived at the asylum he was taken directly into Superintendent Allison's private office, and there examined behind closed doors by Dr. Allison and State Prison Superintendent Austin Lathrop. Afterwards he was sent back to the cell in the isolated building, and Allison repeated to the reporters Quigley's story, which shows that the escape was due to the violation of rules on the part of attendants and also to carelessness in the manner of locking up.

Perry and Quigley, being considered bad men, were kept confined in their rooms, where they were given their meals. Some days ago Maguire managed to retain two metal spoons, though it was the duty of the attendants to count in and count out the utensils at every meal. Out of these spoons Maguire fashioned two keys, one for each lock, securing patterns of the locks from a source which Quigley does not know, though it is believed that one of the patients who had the run of the ward secured an impression for him.

Maguire gave the key which he made for the lower lock to Davis, who was not kept in close confinement, and who in going to supper on Wednesday evening unlocked the lower lock of Maguire's door, returning the key to Maguire's door, presuming that it had been locked all day. After it was quiet that night Maguire slipped his arm through the observation hole and with his other false key, unlocked the upper bolt with his two keys. Maguire could have opened all of the sixteen cells in the ward, but he did not. He unlocked the rooms of Quigley and Perry, and the three men secreted themselves in the train robber's room.

It is certain that Watchman Carmody did not try the door of Perry's cell, for after he had passed it the three men rushed out and overpowered him. After having secured Carmody's keys it was an easy matter for them to liberate Davis and O'Donnell, and then the five men left the building through the chapel and attic.

When found asleep in a freight car at New Hamburg Quigley was completely prostrated. He had got lost in the woods and had wandered about aimlessly until he stumbled into New Hamburg, footsore and weary and famished for food. He had been in the car only a short time when he was captured by Peter Leroy and William E. Traver, two persons living in the village. He said that after leaving the asylum he and his fellow convicts separated, and he did not know, he said, which way the others went. Traver and Leroy took him back to the asylum and received the reward of $50.

When captured Quigley had on a pair of overalls, which he said he picked up in a brick yard and put on in place of his asylum trousers, which he got wet by walking into a ditch. He said he slept in a dog house on a neighboring farm Thursday night. The asylum authorities have no definite clues to any of the other fugitives. Fully thirty attendants are out following up various rumors of the men's flight. The asylum authorities will spare no effort to secure them.

Attendant William Norris, of the Hudson River State hospital, said last night that he had been in Hughsonville, a short distance from the Matteawan asylum, and had learned that late Thursday night three men approached the house of Lewis Adams and attempted to open a window. Miss Adams heard them and raised a window. One of them whispered, "The people are not in bed," and they ran across the field. During the night they broke into the cellar of Adam Shoenfeld, nearby, and stole some cakes and sweetmeats, doing no other damage. There seems to be little doubt from this circumstance, that these were the fugitives, and it indicates that they are somewhere in Dutchess county.

Governor Morton today issued a proclamation offering $1,000 reward for the capture of Perry.

Dynamite Bomb in a Beer Keg.

LANSING, Pa., April 13.—A dynamite bomb, seven inches long and of the diameter of a gas pipe, was found in a beer keg by some of the workmen in Springer's brewery yesterday afternoon. It was made of wrought iron, heavily charged, and capped at both ends. Attached to it was a paper fuse, filled with powder, but which had been saturated with the beer in the bottom of the keg. The keg was one of a large number that came from the Pennsylvania station yesterday, and no trace of its last point of shipment can be had, but it is thought to have come from some town in the coal regions. Neither is it known whether it was intended as a grim joke, or meant to deal death and destruction, as it certainly would have done had it been exploded.

To Fight the Alleged Beef Combine.

NEW YORK, April 13.—A combination has been formed among the east side butchers of this city to fight the alleged beef combine. Already about 600 of the smaller butchers have signified their willingness to join the movement, and they expect soon to be backed up by the New York Retail Butchers' Protective association. It is said that a meeting of the retail butchers will be held soon, at which a committee will be appointed to act in concert with similar committees in other cities.

THE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

Last Day of a Most Interesting Session
—Prof. Hendrick on the Best Education—Language Work—Mistakes in Teaching—Resolutions of Sympathy.

Specially Reported for the DAILY ARGUS.
GOSHEN, April 12.—At 9 a. m., Conductor Hendrick called the Institute
to order for its last day of work.
Singing, scripture reading, the Lord's Prayer and again a song, were the opening exercises.

After roll call, Professor Hendrick began his talk on "The Best Education," by eliciting from the teachers
the number who held certificates of a high grade.

It is a good thing, he said, for us every once in a while, to get our bearings, to stop and think, and see what is the education we are getting.
Many people think that our education consists in cramming a great many facts into one's head. Facts are only the skeleton. We must have them, but to make an education a real thing, you must come in contact with the best minds.

Educate yourself by being with others of the same purpose. We lose much if we try to study alone. There is inspiration in numbers. We are impressed by others' personality. A great teacher is one who can communicate the fire of his own ambition to his pupils.

To make honest men and women is the end of all true training. A good school is made up of good teachers and hardworking students.

Edward Everett Hale considers that he got much of his education from his fellow students. In a large measure this is true of all of us.

The theory of people who advocate
what is called "The New Education," is, that all you have to do is to remain passive, while some one fills you up with what they call "educating influences." This gives one false ideas. Nothing of value is ever gained without a struggle, and education is no exception to the rule.

Whatever is worth having must be worked for. The principle of growth is from within, and at first, is very slow in declaring itself, but if there is anything worth cultivating, hard work will develop it.

Education must be broad to accomplish its true purpose. Many lay the blame of their not being better educated on other people, but that is an unfair thing to do. It is generally our own fault, if we will only be honest and admit it. Excuse making is of great antiquity, as old as anything we know about, but none the less reprehensible. Because a custom is old does not make it respectable.

We owe a duty to the world, and how shall we pay it? By passing along the kindnesses which have been shown us, giving of our best thought and effort, and making some folks better for our having been in it.

A recess was then taken, during which circulars giving instructions as to the method to be pursued in taking the examinations for State certificates were distributed. It is hoped that a greater number will take these examinations.

A LESSON IN LANGUAGE WORK
After singing, Mrs. Burke resumed her instruction in methods of developing language work. She spoke of the value of good pictures in the school rooms. These are used largely in reproduction work, of which Mrs. Burke is a great advocate. The speaker believes in familiarizing young children with the leading poems and prose selections of great authors and in enriching the vocabulary of the child.

The last period of the morning was opened by singing, and then the conductor spoke of "Mistakes in Teaching." We like Prof. Hendrick because he does not think teachers to blame for all the mistakes made in the world as many educators seem to do, for the severest criticism of the ordinary teacher has come from within the fold. The conductor tells us of some of our faults, but in such a manner that we feel as if, after all, there was some hope for us. We feel encouraged to try and do better.
He does not believe in the popular gush about bringing everything down to the comprehension of the child. It is better to make them think by giving them something to puzzle out.

Tardiness and the importance of promptness in every detail were ably spoken of.

AFTERNOON SESSION.
The institute opened half an hour earlier for its afternoon session, and no recess was taken, in order that no working time be lost, and yet to give plenty of time to get to the earlier trains.

Mrs. Burke occupied the first period with a description of famous pictures, copies of which can be obtained for the school room. She also read a number of compositions, written from the study of these pictures, by quite young children. At the conclusion of her period she gave a list of what are considered the twelve great pictures of the world, by request of a number of teachers.

One gentleman present thought the teachers could not sing a "Round" as well as the Institute in Westchester county, where Prof.
Hendrick was last week, but he himself thought Orange county teachers
could do better, and proved it.

After this singing, the conductor feelingly referred to the sorrow which had detained Commissioner Clark at home for two days, and Principal

A STARTLING FACT.

Sixteen Per Cent. of Life Insurance
Applicants Rejected on Account of Diseased Kidneys.

Dr. Lambert, the general medical director of the Equitable Life Insurance Company, New York, is reported to have said: "We reject sixteen percent. of the applications for insurance, and I have saved the entire expense of this medical department by the rejection of applicants who had diseased kidneys, and who died within two years after I rejected them."

This appalling statement should have the attention of our citizens.
There is no reason to day why people should allow kidney disease to get such a hold on them. Nature sends her warning in the slight pain in the back, poor circulation of the blood, sediment in the urine. When any of
of these symptoms appear, Dr.
David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy
should be taken in small doses at once, and thus drive the poison out of the blood and restore the kidneys to healthy action. To our knowledge this is the only medicine that surely cures this almost universal complaint.

We note the recovery of Mr. Oscar Lambert of Jerico, Mo., whose case has been talked of in the papers the world over. Quoting from his letter to the Press, Mr. Lambert says: "I neglected the first symptoms until I found myself in bed with a complicated disease of the kidneys. No mortal ever suffered more and lived.
My physician failed to help me. I then used Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. It relieved my kidneys almost immediately, and in a few weeks I was clear of all pain, and entirely cured."

Favorite Remedy has had more free advertising in the columns of the daily papers than anything we know of, from the fact that it does as is promised.—Cures disease,

Tracy presented the following resolutions, which were heartily and unanimously passed:

Whereas, The School Commissioner has been prevented by severe illness in his family from attendance at this institute during the last few days.

Resolved, That we, the teachers of the Second District of Orange county, hereby extend to him and his family our hearty sympathy in this time of pain and anxiety.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be given to the secretary of proceedings of this Institute, to appear upon the minutes of his record
to the department.

Professor Hendrick then gave what proved to be a very practical talk on "Hygiene." He thought people ought not to be cranks about themselves, but good health ought to be their study, for without this, good work cannot be done. You can't get a first-class education on third class
food, and you can't teach a good school on an underfed and badly exercised body.

We hope the department will send Prof. Hendrick to Orange county again. By his breezy common sense and business-like methods he has gained golden opinions, and we want to see him again.

THE WOMAN'S PAPER.

Special Edition of the "Daily Argus" to be Edited and Published by Women for the Benefit of Thrall Hospital—some Features of the Paper—The Editorial, Business and Reportorial Staff—Many Special Contributors.

On Saturday, May 4th, 1895, a woman's edition of the MIDDLETOWN DAILY ARGUS will be issued, under the auspices of the general management of Thrall Hospital. All the profits of the publication will be applied to the hospital fund, which is in sore need of replenishment.

The woman's edition of the Argus will contain not less than sixteen pages. In addition to current news, editorial comments, local happenings, etc., a very large number of articles on timely topics of local and general interest are promised from special contributors. All the articles will be written by women, and all the editorial and reportorial work, proof-reading, etc., will be done by women.

Arrangements have been made for the sale of the woman's Argus in Port Jervis, Newburgh, Warwick, Monticello, Liberty, Ellenville, Deckertown and other towns in Orange, Sullivan and Ulster counties and in Sussex county, N. J.

A circulation of 5,000 copies is guaranteed and in view of the nature of this charitable enterprise, a far larger demand for the paper is expected. This will prove a rare and exceptional opportunity for tradesmen of every description, and while utilizing to their own profit this novel advertising medium, they will at the same time be doing a praiseworthy deed of charity. The scheme has been taken up for neither fame, fun nor the following up of a new fad, but simply to lighten a weight for the overburdened shoulders of the faithful workers at the hospital.

The price of the woman's edition of the Daily Argus will be ten cents per copy.

A column is to be headed "The Growler," and though women do not usually claim the right to growl, an opportunity will be given them in the woman's paper to ventilate any grievances they may have, and the editors will be pleased to receive any growls that the women of Middletown may wish to emit.

Editorial and business offices of the woman's edition of the Argus have been opened in rooms 3 and 4, Low Building, the use of which has been kindly given by Mr. Low without charge.

Those who have promised to contribute to the paper are respectfully requested to mail their articles to the editor-in-chief by Thursday, April 13th, addressed, Miss Cassie D. Friend, Box 33, City Post Office.

Names of special contributors will be published later, as soon as the list is complete.

In the Spring.

Nearly everybody needs a good medicine. The impurities which have accumulated in the blood during the cold months must be expelled, or when the mild days come, and the effect of bracing air is lost, the body is liable to be overcome by debility or some serious disease. The remarkable success achieved by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and the many words of praise it has received make it worthy of your confidence. We ask you to give this medicine a trial. We are sure it will do you good. Read the testimonials published in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla, all from reliable, grateful people. They tell the story

Headache bad? Get Hood's Pain Pills.

WOMEN IN THE SPRING.

They Need Nothing So Much as Paine's Celery Compound.

In the spring women need Paine's celery compound.

The average American woman, says a well known writer, wears herself out twenty years before her time. She begins the wearing-out process as a child, staying up at night until the whole family retires; and keeps it up as a growing girl, staying awake until ten or eleven o'clock, when she should be asleep by nine; and as a woman she has so many things to do and to keep up with that she positively hasn't a minute to rest.

By and by her cheeks grow thin and haggard; languor takes the place of her old-time high spirits; she has a general worn-out air; her nerves are gnawed by pain, and sleeplessness makes fearful inroads upon her health.

Her physicians tell her simply that her nervous system is exhausted, and that help must come by feeding the brain and entire nervous tract, richly, rapidly, and completely.

It is the experience of the most careful medical men in this country that nothing proves so uniformly successful as Paine's celery compound in cases of brain-weariness, nervous inability, failure of vital force, dyspepsia, sleeplessness, and for restoring health and vigor to the brain and body when exhausted by over-worked or dissipation.

Every such weary, nervous, thin-blooded person should take Paine's celery compound. It makes such people well.

Paine's celery compound improves the general health by making new, ruddy blood and refreshing the nerves.

It reanimates the languid body, and vitalizes the important organs so that they work in harmony with each other.

The accomplished editor of the Oakland, Ill., Ledger, a portrait of whose wife is given above, says in her own paper, editorially:

"Our leading druggist, Dr. W. G. Gregory, informs us that his sales of Paine's celery compound have been wonderful; in fact, he states that he has in six months sold more celery compound than all other medicines combined. There has been a constant demand for it.

"One of the noticeable cures that this medicine has made is the case of Mr. Phil Clinard, who last spring was republican candidate for county treasurer. Mr. Clinard's nerves were all unstrung; he had no appetite and was all run-down. He commenced using Paine's celery compound, and to-day there is not a more and vigorous citizen in this whole community than Mr. Clinard. Another case that comes closer is that of the wife of the editor of the Ledger. Every one in Oakland knows that Mrs. Yeagin was confined to her bed for three whole months with neuralgia. At times her pains were awful, so much so that her hands would clench and it took the united strength of two persons to straighten out her fingers. Dr. Garvey, the family physician, treated her for months, but all he could do was to alleviate the pains, not effecting a cure. Along last winter she commenced using Paine's celery compound.

"She commenced to gain in flesh at once. Her pain all went away; her vitality increased weekly, and to-day there is not a more healthy woman in town than she. Her neighbors all marvel at her recovery, and ask her the cause, and she has no hesitancy in saying that it is all due to Paine's celery compound. This is given voluntarily in the hopes that others who are afflicted may be profited by using this great medicine, which to-day is without a peer in the land."

AFLOAT IN A FRAIL CRAFT.

A Man Eighty Years Old Carried Down the Delaware in an Old Scow Without Oar or Paddle.

During the freshest in the Delaware river, Tuesday evening, the crowd assembled at the bridge in Deposit was horrified to see Daniel Bailey, a man eighty years old, in an old rotten scow, without oar or paddle, floating swiftly down the swollen stream, crying for aid. As it seemed as if the boat would strike the pier of the bridge, everybody expected to see the frail craft dashed to pieces and the man drowned. Fortunately, the scow held together, sheered to one side and went on down the stream.

Telegrams were sent to points down the river to look out for the old man and his scow.

When the boat reached Hale's Eddy, it was carried near the bank and the old man jumped out and managed to wade ashore where he was cared for.

Mr. Bailey had been assisting in securing floating lumber at Collett's Mill, when the scow was caught in the current and carried away.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alternative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old People find it just exactly what they need. Price fifty cents per bottle at McMonagle and Rogers, Drug Store.

FRUIT IN HIS MILK SPRING.

How a Farmer Preserves Peaches and Other Fruits for Long Periods.

Mr. A. V. Meyers, of near this city, has four quarts of peaches, grown last year, which are in as good condition, to-day, as when picked from the tree last fall.

Mr. Meyers tried the experiment of keeping peaches once before and kept them a year and two weeks, when, by accident the jar in which they were enclosed was broken and they were then in good condition. This time he will see how long the fruit will keep, as he has provided against accident.

Mr. Meyers makes no secret of his plan of keeping fruit. It is placed in glass jars and these are put under water in the milk spring, which has a temperature of about forty-seven degrees all the year. It is to the even temperature as well as the exclusion of the air that he attributes the remarkable preservation of this very perishable fruit.

SATURDAY, APRIL 13 1895

Pennsylvania has just abolished the kissing of the bible as part of the taking of an oath in court. Merely laying the hand on an open book is now all that is required. The change is a most sensible one.

The Cornell University Agricultural Experiment Station, which, since Jan. 15th, has been experimenting in making butter from whey, has just issued a bulletin in which the results of its experiments are summarized. The quantity of butter obtained is not large, for only a small percentage of milk fats remain in the whey, but the whey butter is to all intents and purposes every bit as good as that made from cream.

The custom of eating hot cross buns on Good Friday is of English origin and dates back for centuries. In Cornwall it is believed that buns eaten on Good Friday possess rare curative virtues and are good for beast as well as man. There are many superstitions connected with hot cross buns, one of the most interesting being that if friends or lovers stand inside the church doors, before matins on Good Friday, break a bun and each keep a part, just so long as they retain the pledge no enemy can come between them, and their love and friendship will increase.

The work of "reforming," that is Republicanizing, the State hospitals has been begun. Gov. Morton refused to renominate Hon. Charles Davis as Trustee of the Binghamton Hospital, and named as his successor Charles M. Dickinson, a Republican of the straightest sect. Mr. Davis has been a Trustee of the Binghamton Hospital since its organization, has always taken a deep interest in its management and his interest for the place was so unquestioned and unquestionable that partisan considerations alone could have dictated his displacement.

The bill providing for the erection of iron guide-boards at road intersections has passed the Legislature, and is now in the Governor's hands. The bill originated with the wheelmen of the State, but they will by no means be the only ones to benefit by the general introduction of these helps to travelers in strange localities. In many other States, guide-boards at road crossings have been the rule for years, and some towns in this State have maintained guide-boards, but New York has never made any attempt to make the system of guide-boards general. The expense will be insignificant in comparison with the benefits that will result from relieving travelers of all uncertainty as to the route they should take.

As for me, why, you want hear from me again." Graham is a good-looking young man about twenty years old. Mrs. Graham is twenty years old, attractive in appearance. She came here from Middletown, N. Y., and was married to Graham last spring.

A PECULIAR CASE.

A Los Angeles Man Loses His Sight Under Strange Circumstances.

S. G. Miller, the secretary of the Los Angeles board of fire underwriters, felt a sudden pain back of his eyes the other day.

He pushed with both hands on his eyeballs to ease the frightful pain, and blood began to ooze from his eyelids, and then the eyeballs were suddenly protruded to the farthest limits of the muscles and nerves holding them, presenting an awful appearance.

When found he was perfectly rigid the eyes sticking out of their sockets an inch or more, and he was uttering the most heartrending cries.

The case has puzzled the doctors greatly, a number of theories being advanced, but none so far has been accepted as proved.

A fracture of some blood vessel back of the eyes is probably the cause, but how this was brought about or why it should have occurred simultaneously in each eye cavity is unexplained.

The eyes themselves evidently lost all life at once, for not only was the sight completely lost, but the eyeballs rapidly showed signs of degeneration, and it became necessary to remove them.—Washington Star.

Ancient Music.

Some fine, rich and crusty music will be given at Athens to-day. It has been discovered on marbles of antiquity and included, in teaching, to disappear into cumbrous, but such has been the carefully guarded handling of M. Homille, the director of the French school at Athens, that he has been able to accurately restore the tablet and likewise to rewrite the prayer to Apollo, which was engraved on it. The sculptor did a further service to our present days by engraving on another stone the music entitled the "Pean," the famous war-song of the Greeks. The music is being studied by an elite Greek orchestra, under the supervision and instruction of half a dozen savants, and will be shortly produced in Athens.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Superstition Flying Out Slowly.

At the famous town of Clonmel, in Ireland, a woman has been burned to death by her husband, who thought she was a witch. It appears to have been only a sporadic case of superstition, however, as the witch doctor narrowly escaped lynching by his neighbors. The victim was suffering from bronchitis, and the probabilities are that the murderer was insane. The days when rational people could believe in witchcraft are gone forever.—Buffalo Express.

Gold Mines In Cemeteries.

A Frenchman who has been traveling in this country says in Le Temps that what struck him most in the United States was the American habit of filling the teeth with gold. About $500,000 worth of gold is thus used every year, he says, all of which, of course, is buried. So he figures that at the end of three centuries the cemeteries of America will contain gold to the value of $150,000,000.

A STIRRER UP OF STRIFE.

A Paper That Forgets That "Blessed Are the Peacemakers."

When Bishop Newman announced the appointments at the New York Conference and sent a new pastor to St. Paul's, all Christians and all good citizens hoped that there would be an end of bickering and strife, that past differences would be forgotten, and that the scandals in which its late pastor had been involved would be forgotten and would cease from troubling. So far as the Argus was concerned it was through with the abhorrent subject.

Not so, however, another paper, which is popularly regarded as the personal organ of St. Paul's ex-pastor. The Press knew, if the Rev. Mr. Wilson did not, that this is a critical period in the history of St. Paul's Church. Its one chance of peace and usefulness is in forgetting and forgiving. A few indiscreet words may prove the firebrand that will again kindle the flames of discord. Anything that will reopen old wounds and keep alive old differences is an irreparable injury to St. Paul's Church, and through it to the cause of Christ, and the Press is playing a wicked part when, in its blind zeal for the rehabilitation of St. Paul's ex-pastor it brings into association with him the name of his successor, and puts into that gentleman's mouth words which it is incredible that he, as a man of sense and judgment, could have uttered.

This is a very cheap chance to spend Easter in the city and you can suit yourself as to trains, going in the morning and returning in the evening.

Establishing a Building Line on Foundry Street.

The erection of Eagle Hose Company's building, on Foundry street, will, without doubt, fix permanently the building line on the east side of that street. —Many from this village will go to New York, to-morrow, on the $1 Erie excursion.

—Goshen vs. Monticello, at the Midway Park bowling alleys, to-night.

—Hiram Flagler, who has been living on the Gurnee farm near this village, for some time past, is in trouble, being charged with passing a forged check. He presented a check for $60, signed Seely Bros., to Mr. Abram May, who cashed it, and when payment was refused at the bank, Flagler was arrested and is now in custody.

—A man called at the store of M. Jonas & Son, last evening, and after selecting $8 worth of goods, tendering in payment a check on the Orange County Bank for $12, which purported to be signed by Charles Wells. Mr. Jonas was somewhat suspicious of the genuineness of the signature, and taking it to Cashier Everett was informed that it was a forgery of Mr. Wells' name. Mr. Jonas did not know the man and allowed him to get away. He was arrested later by Officer Orr, but got away from him and was re-arrested, last night, at Chester. His name is Frank Howell. It has been learned that he succeeded in passing a check for $12 on Henry Seely.

—A few days ago a man presented a check to Mr. A. H. Levison in payment for some goods purchased. Mr. Levison stepped to the bank with the check and was informed that it was no good. This is a wise course to pursue in receiving checks unless you know the party offering them and are sure of their genuineness.

Good Friday Services—Vestry Election—Personal Mention—Women Not Permitted With Supreme Court Judges.

From a special correspondent.

—Rev. Phineas Duryea and Mr. Philip Maitson, of Rutherford, N. J., assisted the rector with the Good Friday services at St. James' Church.

—The annual election of wardens and vestrymen of St. James' Church will be held in the chapel, next Wednesday, directly after morning prayer.

—Mr. Augustus Ireland is spending a few days with his family at Crystal Run.

—Master Williamson Pell, of Brooklyn, is visiting friends in this village.

—The decision made by a Supreme Court Judge lately that a wife should be obliged to obey any reasonable request of her husband, is likely, one would think, to lead to considerable litigation for people's ideas as to what a reasonable request is differ so very widely. For instance, the Duchess of Marlborough's willingness to settle six thousand pounds sterling per annum upon her husband-to-be, Lord William Berosford, shows that her ideas upon the subject are disposed to be liberal. Perhaps her somewhat varied matrimonial experiences have broadened her. It is women like this that spoil husbands and if such a request as that is to be considered reasonable, there are few of our sex who can afford to have more than one helpmate. Evidently the judges have come to the conclusion that women are sufficiently advanced and that their further progress should be checked, for another one has decided that a man has a perfect right to chastise his wife if he does not approve of her conduct. How black and blue some poor women will be! We read in tales of ancient chivalry how the gallant knight, after binding his lady love's glove or some other love token on his helm, used to rally forth to do battle for her against all the world. But, "other times, other manners," and now, apparently, he is to stay at home with a stick, waiting to catch her doing something of which he does not approve. It must be very disagreeable to have such a man as that about the house. It would be almost impossible to be as natural and unrestrained in his presence. One would think that a woman whose first husband's name was Hammersly, would not, with the law in its present condition, care to venture $6,000 a year upon a third, but would rather remain in her present humble station in life as Dowager Duchess of Marlborough. Better, much better, an obscure and lonely lot than the high-priced society of a disapproving man with a cudgel.

FOR ALL.

In the window a stately cilia grew,
And its blue eyes were good to see.
So many the flowers (as petals) the flower,
And the sun was bright at the morning hour,
That cilia was proud of her little power,
And she said:

"The sun was good to me."
But the pretty cilia hung her crimson head
In the shade of the tiny fly.
And she said: "If I don't fly, maybe
The sun will have to light in me."
But a sunbeam out on a frolic leech Peeped in the window, and with grace
Gave a kiss to the blushing face,
And she said:

"Save the art, we shine for all."

THE LIE TONY TOLD.

I had known Jacques de Keronalles
at Fontainebleau years before the war, and when he was brought into my little field hospital amid the luxuriant vineyards of Marly-sur-Seine, only a few miles from the edge of the great forest, he recognized me at once. It was early morning. Indeed the dawn had scarce come, and the river below us was pearly gray in the growing light, as rivers are before sunrise.

"L'Anglais," he cried joyously, for De Keronalles was a merry soul. He raised his blood stained hand in a little gay salute. I make no doubt he had fought bravely and in a manner worthy of the old blood in his veins. He was wet through and covered with dirt. The battle had taken place on the previous afternoon, and the wounded were consequently allowed to lie out on the fields
the whole night. "Le petit jeune homme," he added, "we meet again."
Then he faltered, with the smile on his lips. It is only in books that men differ from what they have lived. It did not take me long to look at this gay youth's wound, cutting away his English-made linen, slicing the cloth of his rough uniform of a private soldier of the Army of the Seine—a mere band
of volunteers despite their grand name.
I knew a seminary in it—not yet ordained a priest—who fought bravely through it, although he lacked the strength to hold his rifle straight without a support.

I saw at once that the career of Jacques de Keronalles was nearly over.
Suddenly it all came back to me—
Fontainebleau and the happy, careless, reckless life in the old town where the very paving stones are saturated with history and worn by the tread of those that made it. Jacques de Keronalles; Tony, vicomte de Mury; Raoul de Kolles, and half a dozen others—baron scum fellows who made life one long laugh.

How often had we shouted the one line chorus in the Rue de France as the slow morning crept up the sky behind the palace!

I rose from the wounded man's side
and went out to the veranda of the villa converted into a temporary field hospital. A cavalry officer in the gay blue uniform of his immortal regiment, with a short, fur trimmed cape thrown carelessly back from the shoulder, stood modestly looking down over the vineyards. He turned at the sound of my footsteps and shook hands gravely. I looked hard at him. It was Tony de Mury—a grizzled, hard faced soldier.

"Well?" he asked. He looked into my face sharply and made a grimace.
"You need say nothing. I see from your face."

He threw away a half burnt cigarette and resumed his attitude of gloomy reflectiveness. I had known him a young man a few years earlier, and glancing at him wondered whether I looked as middle aged as that.

"The devil take all women!" he suddenly exclaimed with his absurd French vivacity and stamped his spurred heel
on the tessellated pavement. "The devil take all women, mon ami."

"He will have as many as he can manage," I suggested, for I was young in those days, and the little wound I still carry had a smart in it yet.

"You remember my sister?" Tony said curiously, and I nodded. We had been in love with Mlle. de Mury, and she had managed in some way to keep us all in hand at once. She was fresh from a convent, where, it seems, these little arts must be acquired. The "botte" that gave me my own hurt was, by the way, learned there. So far as Jacques de Keronalles had been concerned, however, we had always known that it was a serious matter.

"Before the war," Tony de Mury went on, "they were engaged. Then Jacques joined the army. What else could he do? As for me, I had always been in it, as you know. It is for our country, and Jacques was among the first. It is for our poor France that some of us
fight for these Napoleons."

He turned and looked into the dim room where the cots were ranged in ranks—head and foot—the length of the floor.

"He thinks that she has kept her word," he said, and I wondered how a few years' service could have hardened him.

"And?"

"And she is fiancée to some Italian count—some scum of Rome—who doubtless wears high heeled boots and pumps his face, as I have seen them."

In his heat he spoke too loudly, and Jacques de Keronalles, lying in that quiet room, recognized the voice, though he could not possibly have distinguished the words.

"Is that thou, Tony?" called out the cherry voice from within. It was impossible to realize that these were the tones of a dying man. I have seen two die laughing, both Frenchmen.

"Yes," answered the man by my side.

We entered the room together. De Keronalles smiled when he saw us side by side, Tony on Mury towering above me.

"Ah," he cried, "it is like old times!"

I made shift to smile, but the white look was already about his lips. I wished that I could get away.

"See you, Tony," he said, with a sudden change to gravity which had always been characteristic of him. English people, and there are always a few living at Fontainebleau, thought De Keronalles very French. "See you, the good God wants me. What will you?

We must be satisfied."

They held his lip with his teeth and made no answer.

"If I could have seen Renee," murmured the dying man, with a wistful look at me. In books men invariably seem to die satisfied. In my experience they have always wanted something I could not give them.

"The young man looks grave," he said. "Ah, yes, I know. We were to have been married, mon ami; that is all."

Then he lay still for a minute or so.

"I wonder if she loves me," he said
in a weaker voice, with a calm assurance characteristic of his nation, which has no awkwardness where we are self conscious and shy.

"Not a doubt of it," answered
Renee's brother steadily.

And the dying man's eyes lighted. If I could tell all that I have seen com-passed by a woman's love behind her back, I should be disbelieved. The best stories are rarely told.

"At last!" whispered De Keronalles.
"At last," was the unflinching reply.
"Tell me," went on the dying man.

"Did she say so?"

"Yes."

"What did she say?"

The vicomte de Mury looked in my face and breathed heavily. As for me,
I looked out of the window.

"Did she say she would be content to marry me?"

"Yes, quite content."

"And more—beyond. I mean? All of it? I mean the last of the De Keronalles, you know."

And I heard the first catch in his breath.

"Yes, all of it," answered De Mury,
who had two little sons at home in the south.

"She wanted that also."

"Yes, she wanted that also."

There was a silence. The sun was now rising behind the pine trees on the other bank of the river. Its golden light showed that on the face of Jacques de Keronalles which had not hitherto been noticeable. He was dying of an internal bleeding which art was powerless to stop.

He looked at me.

"So, young man," he said with his wonderful gaiety, "you see life has been worth the living, after all. To have won that, although it is so soon lost."

Tony de Mury was looking at me across the cot with an expression which reminded me of my first operation.

Jacques de Keronalles did not speak again, and the smile slowly chilled, as it were, on his waxen features. De Mury failed for a moment to realize that his friend was dead. Then he suddenly perceived it, and his grim face relaxed.

"God forgive me," he muttered, and pressing my hand he strode out of the room. His horse was waiting, and I heard him chatter away to the front,
where the fighting had begun again.—
Henry Seton Merriman in National Observer.

Ticket of Leave Men.

The ticket of leave is, in most instances, only a means to compel the unfortunate ex-prisoner to give facilities to the police to throw obstacles in the way of obtaining honest employment.

These obstacles may not be intentionally created by the police. In some cases the reporting of the ex-convict may enable those whose duty it is to keep an eye upon his movements to prevent a hopeless thief from palming himself off for purposes of theft upon some unsuspecting employer.

In a very large number of cases, however, it means that men who have been in a convict prison only once, and who may have found their way there owing to untoward circumstances, intemperance or temptation, and not through calculated crime, are prevented by this police surveillance from obtaining fair play in their endeavor to throw off all trace and suspicion of their past crime and prison experience. Where the "ticket" penalty saves one employer
from the risk of harboring an old jailbird in the guise of an honest worker, it prevents 20 men who may be honestly bent upon better ways from obtaining the employment which would make them independent of criminal practices.
—Michael Davitt in Nineteenth Century.

such results, of which these are sam-

Colds. Free trial bottles at McMon-

The Window to Be Unveiled This Evening—Programme of special services.

The Wakefield memorial window in Grace Church will be unveiled at 5 o'clock, this evening, when special services will be held.

H. W. Wiggins, Esq., as one of the executors of Mrs. Wakefield, will unveil the window and formally present it to the church.

The widow will be accepted by Pastor Evans, who will also read the scriptural subject of the memorial as found in the tenth chapter of Luke, from the thirty-eighth to the forty-second verses inclusive. Brief sketches of the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Wakefield will also be given.

The window was made by J. R. Lamb, of 59 Carmine street, New York, and was put in under the supervision of Mr. Oscar Bjorkman. It is beautiful from an artistic point of view. The subject is Jesus at the house of Mary and Martha, showing Mary sitting at the feet of Jesus listening to his words, and Martha going about her household work.

The figures are brought out clearly, and illustrates fully the story as it is known to every Sunday School scholar or biblical student.

THE COMMON COUNCIL.

A Misuse of Words to Call it a Board.

It is had enough for the Press and Times, the Aldermen and some other officials to speak of the Common Council as the "Board," but when the Mayor of Middletown, in an official communication, addresses that body as "the Board" and "this Board" it is time to call a halt.

When Middletown was only a village like Port Jervis, Goshen, Warwick, Chester and others, it had a Board of Trustees, but when it became a city "the Board" was abolished, and as reference to the city charter will show, the legislative body of the city is to be known only as "the Common Council."

Please don't let us hear, or see in print anything more about "the Board" when reference is made to the Common Council.

THE FAST MAIL.

The Niagara Falls scene a special feature of interest.

The scene of Niagara Falls, in the last act of "The Fast Mail," which will be presented at the Casino, next Monday evening, is the grandest piece of reality mechanical ingenuity ever presented upon the stage of any theatre. The actual scene was so impressive that Lincoln J. Carter immediately determined to produce it in his piece "The Fast Mail," and with such gratifying results as to be pronounced perfect by the thousands who have seen and compared it to America's wonderful natural water fall.

Killed a Muskrat in the Street.

Last evening, as Louis Turner and Wilson Wright were going home to supper, a muskrat ran across the sidewalk in front of Jacob Groh's furniture store. They started in pursuit, and Mr. Wright struck the animal with his umbrella, stunning it, and then Mr. Turner killed it by stamping upon it.

The rodent had doubtless come up town from Monahan brook through a sewer, and made its way to the street through a manhole.

Accident at a Wedding.

While a wedding was in progress at the farm house of William Hiles, near Papakating, N. J., Wednesday, and just as the bride party was about to enter the parlor, in which about a hundred guests were assembled, the floor gave way, precipitating the whole party into the cellar, seven or eight feet below. Strange to say no one was seriously injured. After half an hour's delay the marriage took place in another room.

Sent to Jail as a Witness.

Ed McHugh, the Sullivan county man, who was robbed in Port Jervis by Thomas Quinn and Michael Kane two Middletown young men, was held as a witness and, as he was unable to furnish bonds for his appearance, was sent to Goshen jail with the men who robbed him.

The True Cure

Of all

Nervous Troubles

Is Found in

PURE BLOOD

Because upon the purity of the blood depends the health of every organ and tissue of the Body. If the Blood is thin and impure there is weakness, Nervousness, That Tired Feeling, appetite, and perfect digestion.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Makes Pure Blood

That is why the Cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla are permanent. They do not rest upon the insecure support of temporary stimulants, of late or nerve compound, but upon the solid foundation of vitahol, enriched and purified blood. Read this:

The cure of Olive Carl by Hood's Sarsaparilla has few equals in medical history. The testimonial was first published two years ago, and a late letter from her mother says Olive continues in good health and "we are satisfied her remarkable cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla was permanent." Briefly stated the case was this: "When pelled to cut her hair, as she could not bear the weight of it. At first the change for the better was very gradual; the pains seemed to be less frequent and the swelling in some of the joints subsided after using about one bottle. Then improvement was more rapid and one night she surprised us greatly by telling us that we need not prop her up in bed as we had one for several months, and next night she surprised us still more by rolling over across the bed. From that time on

Improvement was Very Rapid and she soon began to creep about the house and then to walk on crutches. Now she generally uses but one crutch, the diseased having left one leg crooked, and I fear it will remain so. We feel that to Hood's Sarsaparilla we owe our child's life.

"I can't eat, I have no appetite," is the complaint of many people just now. This is because the blood is in a sluggish and impure condition. Vitalize and enrich it by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and you will soon be hungry all the time because your blood will demand proper sustenance from good food.

Nervous Dyspepsia.

"I suffered with what the doctors called nervous dyspepsia. I could hardly walk and could hardly keep anything on my stomach. I doctored for six or seven years but the different medicines did not do me any good and I grew steadily worse. I would have sick headache for three days and nights causing me such agony that it seemed as though I would rather die than live. I was told to try Hood's Sarsaparilla

Makes Pure Blood

Olive was 8 years old she had the whooping cough and measles, followed by intense pains in every joint in her body, like rheumatism. Physicians were puzzled, but after a consultation, pronounced the disease some form of Constitutional Scrofula.

"When we began to use Hood's Sarsaparilla, she could not be moved without crying out with pain, and we were com-

I enclose the photograph of my daughter and I think it is a picture of perfect health. When I think how near she was to death's door I cannot feel thankful enough for her recovery." Mrs. J. A. Carl, Reynoldsville, Pennsylvania.

The greater includes the less. Such a cure as the above must convince you that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a wonderful blood purifier. Give it a trial this spring.

and did so. When I had finished the third bottle I was so much better that I could eat things that I had not dared to eat before for years. I have taken six bottles and feel like a different person." Mrs. SIMON DECKER, Ruggles, Pennsylvania.

"Refreshing sleep has been given me by Hood's Sarsaparilla and I now rest well and do not feel tired in the morning as I used to." JOHN CRAIG, Somerville, Mass.
